

| Features                                                                  | Specifications                                                                                          | Dimensions              | Options                                                                          |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Minimal and wellproportioned, Jack is aversatile bar stool with a | <ul> <li>Strong steel powdercoatedframe in Matt Black or White</li> <li>Ash timber seat</li> </ul> | 450 High330w x 330d | <ul> <li>Other powdercoat colouroptions available onrequest</li> </ul> |
| scandinavian influence.                                                   | <ul> <li>Stackable</li> <li>Suitable for commercial use</li> </ul>                                      | 650 High330w x 330d |                                                                                  |
| Combining a clean powder coated frame with a                              | • Suitable for commercial use                                                                           | 330W X 3300             |                                                                                  |
| delicately grained timberseat, it will fit easily into a              |                                                                                                         | 750 High330w x 330d |                                                                                  |

10 Henderson Place, Onehunga, Auckland

range of styles.

PO Box 13-323, Onehunga, Auckland 0800 100 822 09 634 3822 Fax - 09 634 6214

••••••

frontdesk@bfg.co.nz

customerservices@bfg.co.nz